MR 706 LS2
270 MHP

The MR706LS2 is a six-cylinder, inline, four-stroke diesel engine with direct injection, designed to deliver power, reliability and optimised fuel efficiency in all operating conditions.

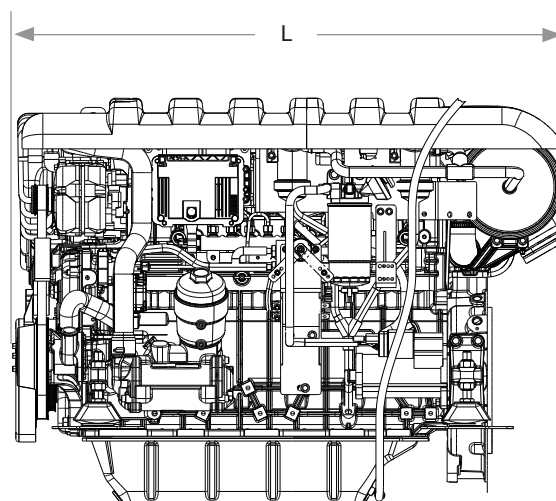

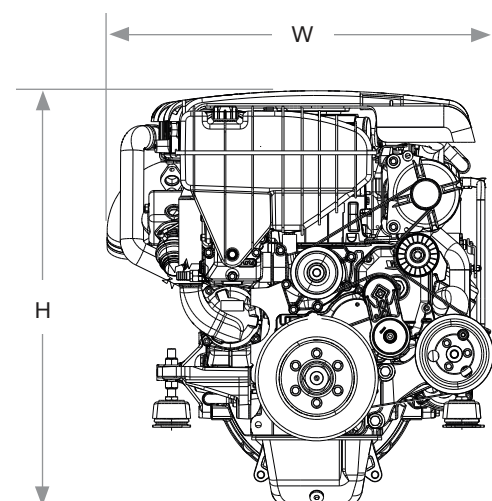

With a displacement of 4.2 litres, it features an electronically controlled common rail fuel system, turbocharger and aftercooler to maximise performance and efficiency. The cooling system uses a freshwater-seawater heat exchanger with separate circuits and a removable tubestack, a solution that simplifies maintenance operations. The oil circuit (cooled via a seawater heat exchanger), along with the water and air circuits, is designed to minimise the use of external flexible hoses.

Thanks to its inline six-cylinder architecture and generous displacement, the engine ensures high torque at low revs and reduced vibrations, placing it at the top of its class.

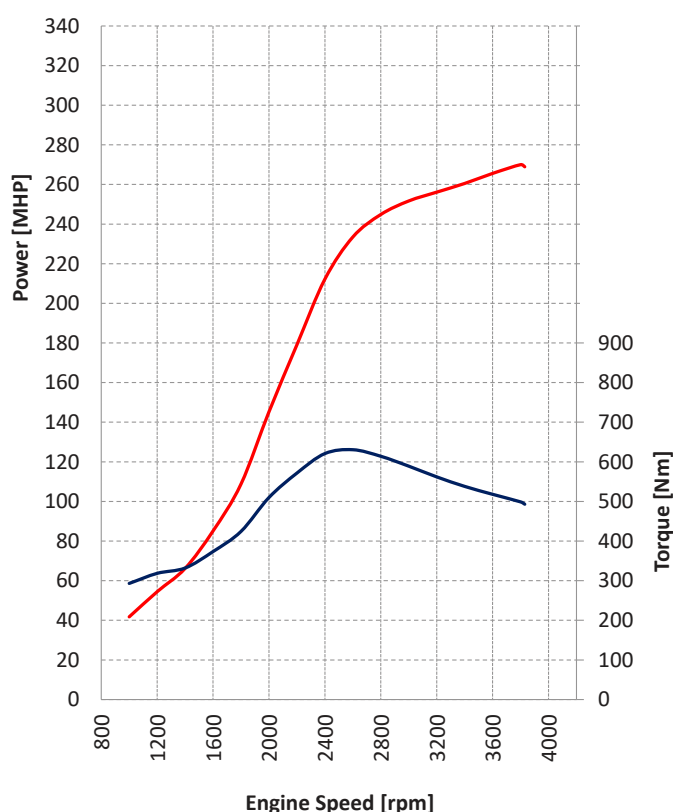

Its compact design and optimised weight allow for easy and versatile installation, even in confined spaces.
